ECLIPSES IN 1843.

There will be three Eclipses this year—two of the Sun, and one of the Moon.

I. The first will be of the Sun, on Tuesday, June 27, at 2h. 30m. in the afternoon ; invisible in New England, because the Moon's latitude will be south. At the time of the ecliptical conjunction, the Sun will be vertical or directly overhead, in latitude  $37^{\circ} 22'$  N. nearly, and longitude  $37^{\circ} 30'$  W. from Boston, which will be west of the Sandwich Islands, in the Pacific Ocean.

II. The second will be a small Eclipse of the Moon, on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6, visible, and by calculation as follows :—

|                     |          |                  |
|---------------------|----------|------------------|
| Beginning - - - - - | 6h. 43m. | } Apparent time. |
| Middle - - - - -    | 7h. 36m. |                  |
| End - - - - -       | 8h. 29m. |                  |

Quantity eclipsed about one sixth of the Moon's diameter on the southerly limb. The Moon will be vertically eclipsed to the inhabitants of the Barbary Coast, or rather to those of Sahara, or the Great Desert, inhabited by a few wandering Arabs.

III. The third will be of the Sun, on Thursday, Dec. 21, at 0h. 24m. in the morning, consequently invisible in America, either North or South.

Correspondents are requested to forward their Communications for the Register by the first of December, or earlier if possible.

NORTH EASTERN BOUNDARY.

Gov. Davis, in his Message of 1842, says :

The boundary from the monument, at the head of St. Croix river, to the Rocky Mountains, a distance probably of three thousand miles, has been finally adjusted, though a large portion of this line has until now been in dispute. It is believed that at all points on this extensive route except at the north-east angle, Great Britain has conceded the claims of the United States ; and among other things, has surrendered an important portion of territory on the line of Vermont and New York, containing the fortification at Rous's Point, to which territory her claim was unquestioned, though it was believed to be in the United States till the surveys were made under the treaty of Ghent. This fortification, which commands the outlet of Lake Champlain, was commenced soon after the last war by the United States, because of the military importance of the site, but the work was suspended when the true line was traced.

By the boundary, as agreed to between Maine and the British Provinces, a territory, of which the two States were co-proprietors, most of which is uninhabited, is relinquished, and each of the States is to receive the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as an equivalent therefor, and to enjoy the free navigation of the St. John, with the benefit of the Colonial market. There are other stipulations by which the expenses of maintaining a civil posse upon this frontier are to be reimbursed, and the fund in the hands of provincial officers arising from the sale of timber unlawfully cut down is secured to the States.

*Articles of Treaty between Great Britain and China,
Aug. 29, 1842.*

Art. 1. Lasting peace and friendship between the two empires.

Art. 2. China to pay twenty-one millions of dollars in the course of the present and three succeeding years. Immediate payment, $6,000,000; in 1843, 6,000,000; in 1844, 5,000,000; in 1845, 4,000,000.

Art. 3. The ports of Canton, Amoy, Foo-chow-foo, Ningpo, and Chinghae, to be thrown open to British merchants, consular officers to be appointed to reside at them, and regular and just tariffs of import and export (as well as inland transit) duties to be established and published.

Art. 4. The island of Hong-Kong to be ceded in perpetuity to her Britannic Majesty, her heirs and successors.

Art. 5. All subjects of her Britannic Majesty, (whether natives of Europe or India,) who may be confined in any part of the Chinese empire, to be unconditionally released.

Art. 6. An act of full and entire amnesty to be published by the Emperor under his imperial sign manual and seal to all Chinese subjects, on account of their having held service or intercourse with, or resided under the British government, or its officers.

Art. 7. Correspondence to be conducted on terms of perfect equality amongst the officers of both governments.

Art. 8. On the Emperor's assent being received to this treaty, and the payment of the first 6,000,000 dollars, her Britannic Majesty's forces to retire from Nankin and the Grand Canal, the military posts at Chinghae to be also withdrawn, but the islands of Chusan and Kulangsoo are to be held until the money payments and the arrangements for opening the ports be completed.

Thus have the English not only gained every object for which war was made on three hundred millions of people, but have also concluded this Treaty of Peace and opened an intercourse with the most fertile provinces of the empire. In place of one port for carrying on trade, British ships are to be allowed free access to five, namely—Canton, Amoy, Foo-chow-foo, Ningpo and Chinghae. The position and advantages of Canton and Amoy are well known. Ningpo and Chinghae are equally advantageous, and will afford a short communication with the great tea district in that quarter, and also secure intercourse with Nankin and other large cities along the Grand Canal, and the noble river Yang-tze-keang, where a British fleet, many miles up the country, now for the first time in the history of the world, lies safely at anchor. Foo-chow-foo is to the west of these places, and is situated on a fine river called Min, which takes its rise in the black tea district, and flows past Chaou, Yen-ping, and other cities of great importance.

Origin of the names of the Months of the Year, and of the Days of the Week.

By the Romans, January was so called from Janus, an ancient king of Italy.

February, from Februa, a word denoting purgation by sacrifices.

March, from Mars.

April, from the Greek appellation of Venus.

May, from Maia the mother of Mercury.

June, from Juno.

July, from Julius Cæsar.

August, in honor of Augustus Cæsar.

The other four months, namely, September, October, November and December, still retain their numerical Latin names.

By the Saxons, the first day of the week was called Sunday, from their adoration of the Sun, on that day.

Monday, from their usual custom of worshipping the Moon on that day.

Tuesday, in honor of one of their idols called Tuisco.

Wednesday, from the appellation of Woden, another of their idols.

Thursday, from the name of an idol called Thor, to whom they paid their devotions upon that day.

Friday, from the name of Friga, an imaginary goddess by them worshipped.

Saturday, as is supposed from Saturn, or Seater, by them worshipped.

DR. HERSCHEL'S TABLE

For Foretelling the Weather, through all the Lunations of each Year, forever,—amended by

DR. ADAM CLARKE.

This table and the accompanying remarks are the result of many years' actual observation ; the whole being constructed on a due consideration of the attraction of the sun and moon, in their several positions respecting the earth, and will, by simple inspection, show the observer what kind of weather will most probably follow the entrance of the moon into any of its quarters, and that so near the truth as to be seldom or never found to fail.

Observations.—1. The nearer the time of the moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, are to midnight, the fairer will the weather be during the seven days following.

2. The space for this calculation occupies from ten at night till two next morning.

3. The nearer to mid-day or noon, the phases of the moon happen, the more foul or wet weather may be expected during the next seven days.

4. The space for this calculation occupies from ten in the forenoon to two in the afternoon. These observations refer principally to the summer, though they affect spring and autumn nearly in the same ratio.

5. The moon's change, first quarter, full, and last quarter, happening during six of the afternoon hours, i. e. from four to ten, may be followed by fair weather ; but this is mostly dependent on the wind, as is noted in the table.

6. Though the weather, from a variety of irregular causes, is more uncertain in the latter part of autumn, the whole of winter, and the beginning of spring, yet, in the main, the above observations will apply to those periods also.

" An evening red and morning gray,
Will set the traveller on his way ;
But an evening gray and a morning red,
Will pour down rain on a traveller's head."
